

TERMS AND CONDITIONS EOS CYCLING HOLIDAYS LTD

Article 1 Definitions

Article 2 Acceptance and content of the arrangement

Article 3 Payments

Article 4 Pricing

Article 5 Information

Article 6 Travel documents

Article 7 Changes by the customer

Article 8 Replacements

Article 9 Cancellation by the customer

Article 10 Cancellation by the Travel Company

Article 11 Changes by the Travel Company

Article 12 Liability and circumstances beyond one's control

Article 13 Help and assistance

Article 14 Exclusions and limitations to Travel Company's liability

Article 15 Duties of the customer

Article 16 Complaints and disputes

Article 17 Sales of guidebooks

ARTICLE 1: DEFINITIONS

Article 1, note 1

Definitions of these terms and conditions:

- a. Travel Company; EOS Cycling Holidays Ltd.
- b. Arrangement; The contractual agreement in which the Travel Company contracts itself to provide a cycling holiday package to the customer. The Travel Company offers various cycling holidays and as every cycling holiday package is different to the other, the responsibilities of the Travel Company vary per arrangement. Depending on the cycling holiday, the Travel Company is responsible for:
  1. the arrangement of accommodation with one or more accommodation suppliers
  2. the arrangement of transport with one or more transport suppliers
  3. the arrangement of bicycle hire with a bike rental company
  4. the providing of a route description with background information (on independent self guided cycling holidays)
  5. the providing of one or more tour guides (on guided cycling holidays)
  6. the providing of luggage transport between multiple accommodations
  7. the supply of customer support during the length of the arrangement
  8. the providing of all associated administration related to the responsibilities mentioned aboveThe Travel Company publishes on its website what is included in which arrangement and which additional services and conveniences can be booked with the arrangement.
- c. Customer;
  - A. the contractual party of the Travel Company, or
  - B. the actual person for whom the arrangement is booked and who accepts the arrangement, or
  - C. the actual person who is acting as the contractual party of the Travel Company after changes as described in Article 8 of these terms and conditions
  - D. any person who is consuming the arrangement alongside the actual person described in B and C above.
- d. Booking office; the company that might mediate between the Travel Company and customer during the acceptance of the arrangement
- e. Accommodation Supplier; company that offers accommodation to the customer(s), as ordered to do so by the Travel Company.
- f. Bike Rental; company that rents out one or multiple bicycles to the customer(s), as ordered to do so by the Travel Company.
- g. Transport Supplier; company that offers transport and possibly accommodation to the customer(s), as ordered to do so by the Travel Company.
- h. Tour Guide; the person who accompanies customer(s) on a guided cycling holiday on behalf of the Travel Company for the duration of the arrangement.
- i. Sales of guidebooks; process in which the Holiday Company sells one or more guidebooks to the Customer, without actually offering a cycling holiday arrangement as defined in note b of this article.

Article 1, note 2

These terms and conditions belong to all arrangements of EOS Cycling Holidays Ltd. (the Travel Company). Terms and conditions and arrangements are valid under English law as the Travel Company is based in the United Kingdom.

Article 1, note 3

Pricing in these terms and conditions and in publications of the Travel Company are total prices, including taxes. If applicable, British VAT charges are also included in the price.

Article 1, note 4

Only the full Terms and Conditions in the English language as presented in this document are legally binding, although summaries of the Terms and Conditions might be available in various languages as well. The full Terms and Conditions in the English language are available on the website of the Travel Company.

ARTICLE 2: ACCEPTANCE AND CONTENT OF THE ARRANGEMENT.*Article 2, note 1

The arrangement becomes valid after the customer has accepted the offer of the Travel Company.

For an arrangement with an open start date, the acceptance of the customer takes place by sending an electronic message of acceptance to the Travel Company or by a mediating booking office. The Travel Company will send a confirmation email and confirmation in writing by post to the customer as soon as possible after the receipt of the customer's initial acceptance. This confirmation is also including additional information and invoice. The customer has the right to cancel the arrangement without charges up to seven days after the acceptance. For all cancellations made after this period Article 9 is applicable.

For an arrangement with a fixed start date, the acceptance of the customer takes place by making full payment to the Travel Company or to a mediating booking office. The Travel Company will send a confirmation email and confirmation in writing by post to the customer as soon as possible after the receipt of the customer's payment. This confirmation is also including additional information and payment confirmation. For all cancellations after completion of this process Article 9 is applicable.

Article 2, note 2

By accepting the arrangement as described in the previous article, the customer automatically declares to have read, understood and to agree on the full Terms and Conditions as displayed in this document.

Article 2, note 3

The acceptance of the arrangement takes place before the deadline as published on the website of the Travel Company.

Article 2, note 4

The offer of the Travel Company is without obligations and can be withdrawn when necessary. If the offer is withdrawn the reasons for this have to be communicated to the customer. This all should happen as soon as possible, with a maximum of ten days after acceptance by the customer. Withdrawing because of a mistake in the price calculation is allowed, but withdrawing because of a price increase has to comply with conditions as described in Article 4.

Article 2, note 5

- a. The customer provides the Travel Company with all required information about themselves and other participants within seven days after acceptance of the arrangement. Any special requirements of the announced party have to be supplied by the customer if this information could be essential for the Travel Company to carry out the arrangement in a proper way.
- b. If the customer fails to provide the required information to the Travel Company and this results in exclusion of customer(s) from the arrangement as described in Article 15, note 2, costs as described in that same Article will be charged to the customer.
- c. The customer agrees personal information might be used to inform the customer about products of the Travel Company in the future. The Travel Company won't forward any personal information to third parties who are not involved in the delivery of the arrangement. The Travel Company only supplies information to accommodation suppliers, bike rentals, transport suppliers and/or tour guides as is necessary to carry out the arrangement.

Article 2, note 6

- a. Any published information about the arrangement is part of the terms and conditions, as long as the Travel Company has published the information themselves.
- b. If the Travel Company has issued reservations in the general part of the itinerary of the arrangement and these reservations are contradictory with the terms and conditions, the definitions which are most profitable for the customer prevail.

Article 2, note 7

The customer acknowledges that the offered arrangement by the Travel Company is a cycling holiday. The customer acknowledges all duties, responsibilities and liabilities regarding the activity of cycling within the arrangement as described in Article 15 - "Duties of the Customer".

Article 2, note 8

Days of arrival and departure are counted as full days in the itinerary, regardless of arrival and departure times. On an arrangement with an open start date there might be a choice for the customer to add an extra night of accommodation to the itinerary. The Travel Company can only guarantee this extra night of accommodation if this request is made during the acceptance of the total arrangement. Costs for the extra night of accommodation are charged to the customer.

Article 2 note 9

Arrival and departure times will be mentioned in travel documents. These times are definite. The Travel Company can only make changes within reason and only when keeping to these times in all fairness turns out to be impossible. In this situation Article 11 and 12 are not applicable.

Article 2, note 10

The Travel Company is not responsible for any general information in pictures, brochures, advertising, websites and any other formats, if edited or published by third parties.

ARTICLE 3: PAYMENTS.*Article 3, note 1

For an arrangement with an open start date, a down payment of 20% of the total sum has to be made within seven days after the acceptance of the arrangement.

For an arrangement with a fixed start date, payment of the total sum has to be made on acceptance of the arrangement.

Article 3, note 2

For any arrangement the full sum has to be in possession of the Travel Company at least four weeks before the date of arrival at the first accommodation. The customer is failing to fulfil his duties when payments are not made on time. The arrangement will be regarded as cancelled from the date the payments were originally due if the customer fails to pay. In this case the Travel Company has the right to charge cancellation costs. In this situation the definitions of Article 9 are applicable.

Article 3, note 3

When an arrangement with an open start date is accepted within six weeks before the date of arrival at the first accommodation, the total sum has to be paid within seven days after the acceptance of the arrangement.

Article 3, note 4

For an arrangement with an open start date payments can be made as following:

- By cheque drawn on a United Kingdom bank. The customer has to ensure to send the cheque in good time to ensure the sum can clear into the bank account of the Travel Company before the due date of the payment.
- By bank transfer to the bank account of the Travel Company. The Travel Company reserves the right to forward international bank transfer costs on to the customer.
- By internet payment options such as PayPal, as provided by the Travel Company on its website.

For an arrangement with a fixed start date payments can normally only be made by internet payment options such as PayPal, as provided by the Travel Company on its website. The Travel Company has the right to refer customers to other methods of payments as above.

Article 3, note 5

Payments have to reach the Travel Company in Great British Pounds (Sterling).

Article 3, note 6

The customer who doesn't meet his financial duties to the Travel Company in making payments on time is besides the in debited amount also liable for interest. The customer is also liable for the costs of debt collection which amount to 15% of the outstanding balance.

ARTICLE 4: PRICING.

Article 4, note 1

The published total sum is per person, unless indicated otherwise. Services and conveniences as published are included in this price. Sometimes additional services and conveniences can be booked. These are also priced per person, unless indicated otherwise.

Article 4, note 2

The published price is based on prices, exchange rates, charges and taxes, known to the Travel Company at time of publishing.

Article 4, note 3

The Travel Company reserves the right in exceptional circumstances to raise the price due to increased transport costs (including fuel costs), taxes, charges and exchange rates, as long as the total sum is not paid. This reservation is valid up to four weeks before the date of arrival at the first accommodation.

Article 4, note 4

- a. The customer has the right to decline a price increase. The customer should use this right within 5 days after the announcement of the price rise. This right can't be claimed once this term has passed.
- b. The Travel Company has the right to cancel the arrangement if the customer declines the price rise. The Travel Company should use this right within 10 days after the announcement of the price increase was made to the customer. This right can't be claimed once this term has passed. In the situation the Travel Company cancels the arrangement the customer will be let off all charges and will be reimbursed paid sums immediately. In this situation Articles 10, 11 and 12 are not applicable.

ARTICLE 5: INFORMATION.

Article 5, note 1

The Travel Company will provide the customer with general information about passports, visas and health issues within seven days after the acceptance of the arrangement. The customer will collect additional information from the involved authorities himself and will also check again close to the date of departure.

Article 5, note 2

The customer is liable for all costs and inconveniences caused by their not being in possession of essential valid travel documents.

Article 5, note 3

If the customer has booked an arrangement with the Travel Company for a cycling holiday in country other than his home country, the Travel Company will inform the customer about the general differences in road and traffic rules. The Travel Company will also inform the customer about the different mentality of road users towards cyclists in the country where the cycling will take place, including advice how to deal with these differences. This information will be provided at least ten days before the date of arrival at the first accommodation. The customer should also collect additional information from the involved authorities himself to ensure he knows about all existing traffic rules.

ARTICLE 6: TRAVEL DOCUMENTS.

Article 6, note 1

The Travel Company will provide the required travel documents to the customer at least 10 days prior to the date of arrival at the first accommodation.

Article 6, note 2

The customer will promptly report to the Travel Company or booking office when he didn't receive the travel documents in the way as described in the first note of this Article.

ARTICLE 7: CHANGES BY THE CUSTOMER.

Article 7, note 1

- a. The customer can request changes after the acceptance of the arrangement. Request of changes will be accommodated as much as possible up to thirty days before the date of arrival at the first accommodation and will be confirmed in writing by the Travel Company. The customer will have to pay for a changed total price minus payments which were already made.
- b. The customer also has to pay a £ 30 (Thirty Pounds) administration fee per person.
- c. Delay of the date of arrival at the first accommodation (the departure date) or a reduced number of participants will be regarded as a cancellation of (part of) the arrangement on which case Article 9 is applicable. In this case there is no administration fee charged.

Article 7, note 2

- a. Decisions regarding requests of change will be taken as soon as possible. Rejection of a request of change will be made promptly and with an explanation. In this case the customer will have the choice to keep the original arrangement or to cancel. In the last situation Article 9 is applicable
- b. If a customer doesn't react on a rejection of a request of change the original arrangement will be carried out.

ARTICLE 8: REPLACEMENTS.

Article 8, note 1

The customer can replace himself for another person before the delivery of the arrangement commences. The following conditions will be applicable:

- a. the other person will meet all terms and conditions of the arrangement; and
- b. the replacement request will be made at least 7 days prior to the date of arrival at the first accommodation (the departure date) and in such a time that necessary activities of formalities can be made; and
- c. the original customer pays a £ 30 (Thirty Pounds) administration fee for his replacement; and
- d. the terms and conditions of services supplying companies involved in the delivery of the arrangement are not opposed against such a replacement.

Article 8, note 2

The customer and the person who is replacing the customer are both personally liable for payments of the outstanding sum, administration costs and additional replacement costs when applicable.

ARTICLE 9: CANCELLATION BY THE CUSTOMER.

Article 9, note 1

When an arrangement is cancelled by the customer he is liable for the following cancellation charges:

- a. cancellations up to six weeks (exclusive) before the departure date: 20% of the total sum
- b. cancellations from six weeks (inclusive) up to four weeks (exclusive) before the departure date: 30% of the total sum.
- c. cancellations from four weeks (inclusive) up to two weeks (exclusive) before the departure date: 50% of the total sum.
- d. cancellations from two weeks (inclusive) up to one week (exclusive) before the departure date: 75% of the total sum.
- e. cancellations from one week (inclusive) up to the departure date: the total sum.

The departure date is the date the date of arrival at the first accommodation within the arrangement.

Article 9, note 2

If the cancellation takes place within 7 days after the acceptance by the customer and it refers to an arrangement with an open start date Article 9 doesn't apply. In this situation Article 2, note 1 applies.

Article 9 applies at all times when it refers to an arrangement with a fixed start date.

Article 9, note 3

The customer who cancels the arrangement has to pay the cancellation costs as described in the previous notes. Exceptions to this policy cannot be made for any reason.

Article 9, note 4

If the customer chooses replacement instead of cancellation, Article 8 is applicable.

Article 9, note 5

- a. If a customer cancels an agreement in which shared accommodation is included, this will be regarded as a cancellation of all arrangements of customers who share accommodation with the cancelling customer. All customers will be liable for charges as described in the notes above.
- b. The Travel Company will create a new arrangement for the same period when the remaining customers request this. The cancellation charges of the remaining customer(s) will be deducted from the new total sum(s).

ARTICLE 10: CANCELLATION BY THE TRAVEL COMPANY.

Article 10 note 1

The Travel Company reserves the right to cancel the arrangement in exceptional circumstances.

Article 10 note 2

Exceptional circumstances include cancellation because of low participation numbers on guided tours and/or non availability of services of accommodation suppliers, bike rentals and transport suppliers during the period of the delivery of the arrangement.

Article 10 note 3

Cancellation because of low participation numbers on guided tours and/or non availability of services of accommodation suppliers, bike rentals and transport suppliers during the period of the delivery of the arrangement takes place within 7 days after the first payment by the customer or before the date as advertised by the Travel Company on its website. If a date is advertised by the Travel Company, this date prevails.

In these situations the Travel Company will refund all payments made by the customer, unless the customer wishes to book an arrangement for another period. In that case sums already paid will be settled into a new arrangement for the other period.

Article 10 note 4

Regarding cancellations for reasons as described in the third note of this Article the customer cannot claim any financial loss. This includes loss like missed interest over the period the Travel Company was holding funds. The following note (5) does not apply if the arrangement is cancelled for reasons as described in note 3.

Article 10 note 5

- a) The customer is liable for all financial loss if the cause of the cancellation is related to the customer.
- b) The Travel Company is liable for all financial loss if the cause of the cancellation is related to the Travel Company. Article 12 applies to decide whether or not the cause of the cancellation was indeed related to the Travel Company itself.
- c) If the cause of the cancellation is not related to the customer or the Travel Company both parties carry their own financial loss as described in Article 13.

Article 10 note 6

Specific definitions elsewhere in these terms and conditions apply if cancellation by the Travel Company takes place because of a customer's rejection of a price increase or change within the arrangement.

ARTICLE 11: CHANGES BY THE TRAVEL COMPANY.

Article 11, note 1

- a. The Travel Company reserves the right to change the services within the arrangement on one or more essential points because of exceptional circumstances as described in Article 10.2. These changes are announced to the customer within five days. From 10 days before the date of arrival at the first accommodation these changes will be announced within 24 hours (1 day).
- b. The customer has the right to reject the change(s).
- c. The customer is liable for all related financial loss if the cause of the change(s) is related to the customer.
- d. The Travel Company is liable for all related financial loss if the cause of the change(s) is related to the Travel Company. Article 12 applies to decide whether or not the cause of the change was indeed related to the Travel Company itself.
- e. If the cause of the change(s) is not related to the customer or the Travel Company both parties carry their own financial loss as described in Article 13.

Article 11, note 2

The Travel Company also reserves the right to make changes on minor points due to circumstances. In this situation the customer can only reject the change if the change is seriously affecting the customer in a negative way.

Article 11, note 3

- a. The customer who wants to use his right to reject a change has to indicate this within 5 days after receiving the message about the change. From 10 days before the date of arrival at the first accommodation this term is 24 hours (1 day).
- b. In this situation the Travel Company reserves the right to cancel the arrangement immediately. The Travel Company has to do this within 5 days after receiving the rejection of the customer. After 5 days this right terminates. From 10 days before the date of arrival at the first accommodation this term is 24 hours (1 day).
In that case the customer will not have to pay the original sum and payments made will be returned within 2 weeks. If the services within the arrangement have partly been consumed, the returns will be proportional.

ARTICLE 12: LIABILITY AND CIRCUMSTANCES BEYOND ONE'S CONTROL.

Article 12, note 1

The Travel Company has to carry out the arrangement as contracted in accordance with the expectations of the customer, so far as these expectations are reasonably based on the previously communicated characteristics of the arrangement.

Article 12, note 2

When the arrangement is not carried out according to the expectations as described in the previous note it is the duty of the customer to report this to the involved parties as described in Article 16 note 1.

Article 12, note 3

When the arrangement is not carried out according to the expectations as described in note 1 and the shortcoming is not satisfactory dealt with, it is the duty of the Travel Company to compensate financial loss unless the shortcomings cannot be related to the Travel Company or the person or company who is assisting the Travel Company in delivering the services because;

- a. the shortcoming is related to the customer; or
- b. the shortcoming couldn't be foreseen and is related to a third party who is not involved in the delivery of the arrangement; or
- c. the shortcoming is the result of an event which couldn't be foreseen with all possible care by the Travel Company or anyone involved in the delivery of the arrangement; or
- d. the shortcoming is a result of circumstances beyond one's control as described in note 4 of this Article.

Article 12, note 4

Circumstances beyond one's control are abnormal and unforeseen conditions, occurring independently to the wish of anyone who is calling upon and where the consequences despite precautions couldn't be avoided.

ARTICLE 13: HELP AND ASSISTANCE.

Article 13, note 1

- a. Depending on conditions it is the Travel Company's duty to offer help and assistance to the customer if the delivery of the arrangement is not developing according to expectations. The Travel Company is liable for related costs of help and assistance if the shortcoming can be accounted to the Travel Company as described in Article 12, note 3.
- b. The Travel Company only has the duty to offer help and assistance as far this can be expected in all fairness if the shortcoming can be accounted to the customer. The customer is liable for all costs of help and assistance in this situation. In the event of serious breakdown of bike and/or rider, the Travel Company will endeavour to organise and assist the customer to the next accommodation and place of bicycle repair.

Article 13, note 2

If the delivery of the arrangement is not developing according to expectations because of conditions which can't be related to the customer or the Travel Company, both parties carry their own loss. For example, loss for the Travel Company can consist of extra labour time and for the customer loss can consist of extra accommodation and travel costs.

ARTICLE 14: EXCLUSIONS AND LIMITATIONS OF TRAVEL COMPANY'S LIABILITY.

Article 14 note 1

- a. The Travel Company is only liable for shortcomings in the correct delivery of activities as described in Article 1, note 1b. The financial compensation which could result from this liability has the maximum figure of the total charged sum.
- b. The liability regarding luggage transport and storage services is strictly limited to the task of arranging and delivering these services. Both transport and storage take place at the own risk of the customer. The Travel Company, the person who is carrying out the transport and/or storage and accommodation suppliers are not liable for theft and/or any damage to the luggage. The luggage allowance for this service is one regular big piece of luggage (such as a suitcase, backpack or rucksack) per person.

Article 14, note 2

Where services are provided by service providing companies like accommodation suppliers, bike rentals and transport suppliers the terms and conditions of these companies are applicable. These service providing companies carry their own responsibilities and liabilities regarding the quality of their services towards the customer. The Travel Company is definitely not liable for shortcomings in the quality of the services provided by these companies, but will assist the customer by providing information about these companies and will act as mediator in case of any conflict, see also Article 16, note 1.

Article 14, note 3

The Travel Company doesn't accept any liability for damage by death or injury of the customer, however this is caused. This exclusion also applies to all personal belongings of the customer.

Article 14, note 4

The Travel Company doesn't accept any liability for the consequences of any behaviour of the customer towards any third party and vice versa. This exclusion of liability also applies to the consequences of any behaviour of the customer towards any third party and vice versa while participating in traffic.

Article 14, note 5

All exclusions and/or limitations of liability of the Travel Company are also valid for any person or company assisting the Travel Company in the delivery of the arrangement, as well as the relevant booking office, unless treaty or law exclude this.

ARTICLE 15: DUTIES OF THE CUSTOMER.

Article 15, note 1

The customer has the duty to follow all instructions of the Travel Company, so the arrangement can be carried out as well as possible. The customer is liable for all damage caused by his actions.

Article 15, note 2

- a. A customer who is causing or could cause nuisance and/or trouble, in such a way that in all fairness the arrangement can't be carried out in a regular way, can be excluded from the (continuation of) the itinerary of the arrangement by the Travel Company.
- b. The customer is liable for all costs if these costs are the result of his actions as described in the previous note. The customer will be granted a refund of the total sum or a part of the sum if the cause of the exclusion can not be related to him.

Article 15 note 3

- a. The customer acknowledges that cycling as an activity involves risks. The customer carries all responsibilities and liabilities for this activity himself.
- b. The customer acknowledges that he accepted the arrangement in his own free will.
- c. The customer acknowledges that although the Travel Company has taken great care regarding the development of the cycling route within the arrangement, cycling in busy traffic or on uneven or badly maintained surface might be necessary on certain stretches.
- d. The customer acknowledges it is up to him to make the choice to wear a cycling helmet or not and he accepts the possible negative consequences of this choice are for his own risk. Where a bicycle is rented through a bike rental company that demands the hirer of the bicycle to wear a helmet the customer has no choice other than to wear a helmet. Given the high level of disagreement on the issue of cycling helmets (especially internationally) the Travel Company endorses the policy of the European Cyclist's Federation: "ECF is not opposed to the wearing of bicycle helmets, but firmly believes that this should be a decision for each individual cyclist" and "parents should be allowed to make an informed choice as to whether or not their child wears a helmet". Therefore, the customer can request the Travel Company to inform about the advantages and disadvantages of wearing cycling helmets. The customer agrees on the helmet policy of the Travel Company as described above.
- e. If the customer books an arrangement for a cycling holiday in a country other than his home country he acknowledges cycling in a different country can be a completely different experience in both a positive or negative sense. The customer agrees to take on this challenge of his own free will and agrees to carry all responsibilities and liabilities for cycling in another country himself.
- f. The customer has the duty to follow the instructions of the Travel Company to reduce risks as described in this Article to a minimum. The provision of instructions by the Travel Company doesn't take away any of the customer's own responsibilities and liabilities regarding traffic participation. See also Article 5, note 3.
- g. The own responsibility and liability of the customer applies not only in relation to traffic participation, but also in relation to the Travel Company, accommodation suppliers, bike rentals, transport suppliers and any third party.

Article 15 note 4

- a. The customer agrees that he is capable of cycling (or walking if this is part of the itinerary) the distances mentioned in the itinerary of the arrangement on provided or own equipment without the need for adjusted equipment or assistance of any kind. When the customer proves to be incapable of fulfilling the itinerary or is in need of assistance to keep up with the itinerary of the arrangement all resulting costs will be charged to the customer.
- b. The customer has the duty to make his own way from one overnight accommodation to the next using either the optional bike rental or with his own bicycle (or by foot if this is part of the itinerary). If the customer is providing a bicycle himself he declares to be the legal owner of the bicycle or to have hired the bicycle from a third party in a legal way. If the customer is providing the bicycle he has the duty to make sure the bicycle can be ridden safely. The bicycle also has to be the appropriate type for the route to be ridden within the arrangement.
- c. The customer who books an independent (self-guided) arrangement declares himself to be capable of performing basic repairs on the bicycle, like replacing a flat tyre, without assistance. If the customer provides a bicycle himself he also provides the necessary tools for this himself. The customer acknowledges he can only claim repair costs for repairs on a faulty bike if it was rented by the bike rental associated with the Travel Company.
- d. In the situation the customer doesn't want to ride the bicycle from one accommodation to the other, for example due to bad weather conditions, tiredness or any other reason, the customer has to arrange an alternative himself, so the itinerary of the arrangement can be continued in the proposed way at the end of the day. The Travel Company can advise or assist with this, but only at the customer's expense.

Article 15 note 5

If the customer is using the bike rental option it is the customer's duty to follow all instructions of the bike rental company and to comply with the bike rental's terms and conditions. This could involve paying a deposit in cash or by credit card directly to the bike rental when collecting the bike. If the customer is not able to comply with the bike rental's terms and conditions for example through the non-return of the bicycle(s) it is the duty of the customer to pay financial loss to the bike rental. The terms and conditions of the bike rental will be supplied to the customer along with the bicycle(s).

Article 15 note 6

The customer has the duty to follow all instructions of the accommodation suppliers and to comply with the rules of the accommodation suppliers. It is also the customer's duty to pay all additional costs (caused by ordering services, foods or drinks which are not included in this arrangement) directly to the accommodation supplier before checking out. This also applies to any damage caused during the stay.

Article 15 note 7

The customer has the duty to follow all instructions of the transport suppliers and to comply with the rules of the transport suppliers. It is also the customer's duty to pay all additional costs (caused by ordering services, foods or drinks which are not included in this arrangement) directly to the transport supplier before checking out. This also applies to any damage caused during the transport.

Article 15 note 8

All rights of claim of the customer terminate one year after the end of the itinerary of the arrangement (or, when the services of the arrangement were never consumed, one year after the intended date of arrival at the first accommodation).

ARTICLE 16: COMPLAINTS AND DISPUTES.*Article 16, note 1

- a. An accounted shortcoming in the delivery of the arrangement as described in Article 12, note 2, has to be reported to the service provider as soon as possible, so a solution to the problem can be provided. If nevertheless no action is made and the shortcoming influences the quality of the cycling holiday, the Travel Company has to be contacted promptly.
- b. Communication costs will be paid for by the Travel Company, unless in all fairness the costs shouldn't have been made in the first place.
- c. If the customer doesn't report the shortcoming to the Travel Company and the Travel Company therefore doesn't have the opportunity to solve the shortcoming, the customer's right of compensation can be limited or excluded.

Article 16, note 2

- a. The customer needs to send a written complaint to the Travel Company as soon as possible if the shortcoming is not dealt with to their satisfaction. If the customer doesn't report a complaint to the Travel Company and the Travel Company therefore doesn't have the opportunity to solve the complaint, the customer's right of compensation is limited or excluded.
- b. If the written complaint is not dealt with to the satisfaction of the customer, the customer needs to report this in writing to the Travel Company within one month after the end of the arrangement.

Article 16, note 3

- a. English law is applicable on all disputes between the Travel Company and the customer. Only English Court can take notice of these disputes.
- b. The customer has the right to bring the Travel Company to Court only if the proceedings as described in Article 16, notes 1 and 2, haven't satisfied the customer. This right terminates one year after the end of the itinerary of the arrangement (or, when the services of the arrangement were never consumed, one year after the intended date of arrival at the first accommodation).

ARTICLE 17: SALES OF GUIDEBOOKS.*Article 17, note 1

Guidebooks are sold by the Holiday Company as a separate product to the holiday arrangement products as defined in note b of article 1. On sales of guidebooks only article 1 and 17 apply.

Article 17, note 2

The publisher and author of the guidebooks sold through the Travel Company have both done their best to ensure the accuracy and currency of all the information in the guide book and on accompanying websites. However, publisher, author and/or Holiday Company can accept no responsibility for any loss, injury or inconvenience sustained by any traveller as a result of information or advice contained in the guidebook or on accompanying websites.

Article 17, note 3

Representation of a route in the guidebooks doesn't necessarily mean there is a public right of way. Guidebook users are at all times responsible for their actions, not only when participating in traffic on public roads and paths, but also when using routes on private land. Where the guidebook advises to dismount, guidebook users should always do so. Publisher, author and/or Holiday Company do not accept any liability for any loss, injury or inconvenience sustained by any third party as a result of information or advice contained in the guidebook or on accompanying websites.

Article 17, note 4

On some occasions, the Holiday Company might also sell GPS-tracks of the routes in the books for an additional fee. These tracks will be provided electronically in GPS exchange file format upon payment. The customer has to provide mapping software for their electronic devices themselves. The provided GPS-tracks can slightly differ from the routes as depicted in the guidebooks. The sales of GPS-tracks take place in accordance to conditions as described in all other notes of this article.

Article 17, note 5

Customer will need to pay for guidebooks and/or accompanying GPS-tracks according to instructions on the website. The Holiday Company will endeavour to dispatch the ordered goods to the address as supplied by the customer within three days of receipt of payment.

Article 17, note 6

The Holiday Company will dispatch the guidebooks from their base in the United Kingdom by normal postal services. The Holiday Company can accept no responsibility for any loss or inconvenience sustained by any customer as a result of delay of the delivery of the guidebooks, as this is completely dependent on the punctuality of the postal services. Within the United Kingdom guidebooks will be sent first class, international orders will be sent by airmail. The holiday company will send out replacement guidebooks at no extra cost to the customer if the book doesn't arrive. For orders within the UK, the holiday company will do this after two weeks of the original dispatch date. For orders outside of the UK, the holiday company will do this after four weeks of the original dispatch date.

Article 17, note 7

The Holiday Company can not be held responsible for import tax fees on ordered goods as imposed by custom authorities. Import fees where applicable will need to be paid for by the customer as instructed by the Customs Authority of their country of residence.

Article 17, note 8

If the customer is for any reason not happy with the purchase they should let the Travel Company know by either post or email as soon as possible after they received the goods. The Travel Company will then negotiate an acceptable solution for the dispute with the customer. The financial compensation for the customer has the maximum figure of the total charged sum.

© EOS Cycling Holidays Limited, 2012.

Companies House Cardiff, United Kingdom, Company No 5056675.